Dear EWIS participant,

Welcome to Kraków! The European Workshops in International Studies (EWIS) were launched by EISA at the University of Tartu, Estonia, in 2013. The first keynote was given by Professor Barry Buzan (LSE) on the origins of the modern global order in the long nineteenth century. The 6th iteration of EWIS in Poland's cultural capital (and former capital city) marks the contested 100th anniversary of our discipline from its generally agreed beginnings in 1919, when the first department and chair in International Politics were founded in Aberystwyth, Wales. Following the 2018 EISA Pan-European Conference (PEC) on International Relations in Prague and trailed by the EISA PEC2019 in Sofia, Bulgaria, EWIS 2019 in Kraków also signifies the coming-of-age of Central and East European academia in the radically broadened playing field of the European IR. As far as IR's benchmark dates are concerned, we have turned full circle.

EWIS have quickly established themselves as a vivacious place for the European IR community (and beyond) to engage in sustained, in-depth discussion with a diverse range of peers from various institutions, countries, disciplines and career stages. EWIS has proven to be a popular and productive format, perfect for preparing special issues, edited volumes or exploring new ideas, themes and directions in a vibrant and friendly atmosphere.

The home of EWIS 2019, organised in collaboration with the Polish Association for International Studies and the City of Kraków, is the Jagiellonian University – the oldest higher education institution in Poland (founded in 1364), a key academic hub in Eastern Europe, and an increasingly important centre for IR in Europe more widely. The university is situated in the heart of the city, which allows easy access to the medieval old town's rich history as well as its youthful and dynamic nightlife. Easily reachable by air and land (Kraków international airport is the second busiest of Poland and well-served by major European airlines), Kraków combines a graceful charm of a great historic city and a relaxed vibe of an accessible university town.

The workshops that we selected will provide manifold explorations of the EWIS 2019 umbrella theme – The Next 100 Years of IR. They will gaze into the crystal ball of the future of International Relations in distinct ways, covering the main sub-fields of the discipline, taking stock of the past achievements and pushing the scholarly agenda in novel directions. With the 6th iteration of the event we are delighted to welcome twenty-five forward-looking workshops and their participants, while maintaining the intimate spirit of EWIS and its small-group workshop format. We hope to further consolidate EWIS' reputation as the most intellectually productive IR conference format in Europe – and one that supports inclusive participation through a commitment to accessible facilities. We are also delighted to have been able to provide substantial mobility grants to 15 participants, a practice started in EWIS 2018 in Groningen and hopefully to long live in spe.

We are also happy to honour the EWIS tradition of an exciting social programme, including a welcome reception, 'happy hours' on the first day of workshops (an affordable version of the expensive hotel bar at standard large IR conferences), and a day of fascinating cultural excursions in and around Kraków on Saturday that will give you plenty of chance to meet and discuss with participants from other workshops. We hope that EWIS 2019 in Kraków provides an intellectually productive as well as enjoyable and memorable experience.

All of this would not have been possible without the hard work behind the scenes by the workshop conveners, the Jagiellonian University organising team, the staff of EISA, as well as numerous student helpers. We trust that you will all join us thanking them for their work.

We hope you enjoy the event, and look forward to meeting you, catching up – and to getting your feedback – during one of the social events at EWIS 2019.

Let the fest begin.

Plenary Roundtables, 26 June 2019: The Next 100 Years of International Relations

EWIS 2019 kicks off with two plenary roundtables exploring the convention theme – ‘The Next 100 Years of International Relations’. The roundtables continue the democratic spirit introduced at EWIS 2018 in Groningen: we will deliberately depart from the conventional keynote format by bringing together scholars from a broad variety of perspectives in order to showcase the bottom-up dialogical character of EWIS as a whole. We are excited to welcome leading scholars and rising stars from around Europe but also from around the world – reflecting the growing reach of EWIS – to participate in these roundtable discussions. It is our hope that the two plenaries will provide a welcome spark for the ensuing workshops in the next two days.

The first roundtable will pave the way for unpacking the future-looking intent of the conference title: What should we cherish from the history of doing IR, and take forward to the next hundred years? What should better be forgotten and abandoned as poor practice, unsavvy and unethical conduct of studying world politics? Is the slogan of the business world - what got us here won't get us there – applicable to the study of IR? In which ways is the history of the discipline illuminating for carving out the better angels of our nature – and future? In what sense can the first official 100 years of IR serve as a warning? Or is it high time to rid us of the shackles of the centenary chronotope of Western IR and join the increasing calls to widen the discipline's theoretical and historical scope by also radically revising its orthodox benchmark dates? How does the history of the discipline weigh on the daily choices we make in our own scholarly work?

The second roundtable will provide additional perspectives on these themes and give the participants a chance to reflect on what the previous speakers contributed, with an eye firmly to the future – to what is to be done and how to do it in order to make the next century of IR a more global and historically aware, a less parochial, and altogether an ever more exciting one. What is in store for IR's next hundred years? Which forces of world politics currently shape our discipline as it begins its second century? What role do we envision for International Studies in the world where academic freedom in general and social sciences in particular are under pressure? To what degree is contemporary IR what we – the scholars of International Studies – make of it? The second plenary will ponder how IR scholars could with their own daily labor, work and action bring about positive, transformative change to the study of world politics. The speakers will discuss different ways of scholarly practice, method, responsibility and social engagement to probe the future of IR's analytical object, and the modalities of engagement of our disciplinary gaze and touch.

EWIS 2019: Useful Information

Event venue

The EWIS event will be placed in four buildings in total, while workshop rooms are located in two buildings.

Building A (Mickiewicza 9b) - Collegium Paderevianum, Faculty of Philology

- One of two buildings where workshops will take place on 27th and 28th of June. This building is located right next to the Auditorium Maximum of Jagiellonian University.

Building B (Ingardena 6) - Institute of Psychology

- Second building where workshops will take place on 27th and 28th of June. It is a short walk away from the other buildings (400m, approximately 4 minutes of walking).

Building C (Krupnicza 33a) - Faculty of Law and Administration, Teaching Centre

- In this building, plenary roundtables will take place on 26th June. This building is located right next to the Auditorium Maximum of Jagiellonian University.

Building D (Krupnicza 33) - Auditorium Maximum of the Jagiellonian University

- The registration desk will be located in the main building of Auditorium Maximum.

EWIS 2019 Map

Registration Desk

On first two days of the event, 26th and 27th June, the registration desk will be located in Building D - Auditorium Maximum of the Jagiellonian University (Krupnicza 33). Registration opens at 09:00.

For the last day of the event, Friday 28th June, the Registration desk will be moved to Building A. Registration on the last day will be closed at 12:30.

Coffee Breaks

Coffee breaks will be located in each respective building where the program takes place. On 26th June (during the Plenary roundtables) the coffee break will be placed in Building C, for 27th and 28th June (during the Workshops) the coffee breaks will be in both Buildings A & B.

Lunch and Dinner Venues, Local Information

Kraków has a vibrant city centre with plenty of opportunities for lunch and dinner. For larger groups we recommend making reservations in advance. Please check with your workshop convenors to ensure that you are aware of any arrangements that have been made for your group. For suggestions and further local information, please see <https://eisa-net.org/ewis/practical-information-2/>.

Internet Access

Wifi is provided via Eduroam – login as at your home institution. If you do not have access to Eduroam, simply ask for a Wi-Fi login code at the registration desk.

EWIS 2019: Social Programme

Welcome Reception

Following the plenary roundtables, starting at 18:00 there will be a welcome reception at Exhibition hall of Auditorium Maximum - Building D (Krupnicza 33). This reception is offered to you by the Jagiellonian University, the City of Kraków and the EISA. EISA is delighted to have again worked in close partnership with our local academic hosts but also the institutions and establishments of our host city, which again highlights the importance that we place on EWIS as an event that is firmly embedded in interesting locations around Europe.

The banner features logos for EISA (European International Studies Association), Jagiellonian University in Kraków, and the City of Kraków. The text on the right side of the banner provides the following details:

EWIS OPENING RECEPTION

DATE: Wednesday 26th June 2019

TIME: 18:00 – 20:00

LOCATION: Exhibition hall of Auditorium Maximum

This reception is co-organized by EISA and Jagiellonian University, with the support of Mayor's Office of the City of Kraków.

EWIS Happy Hours

EWIS Happy Hours provide the opportunity to continue the workshop discussion with a cold drink in one of Kraków's stunning pubs. We have negotiated special deals at Hala Główna, located at Dolnych Młynów 10, within short walking distance from the conference venue. The pub is located in the former industrial building complex and surrounded by many others – hence easy to switch around and explore your options.

There will be a limited number of vouchers for a free drink of your choice prepared on site on a 'first come, first served' basis. Make sure you are on time not to miss the opportunity to get your voucher before the capacity runs out.

Friday Night Suggestions

For Friday night (28 June), we suggest to check out the programme of the 24th Summer Jazz Festival Kraków or the 29th Jewish Culture Festival.

Saturday Excursions (optional, with pre-registration)

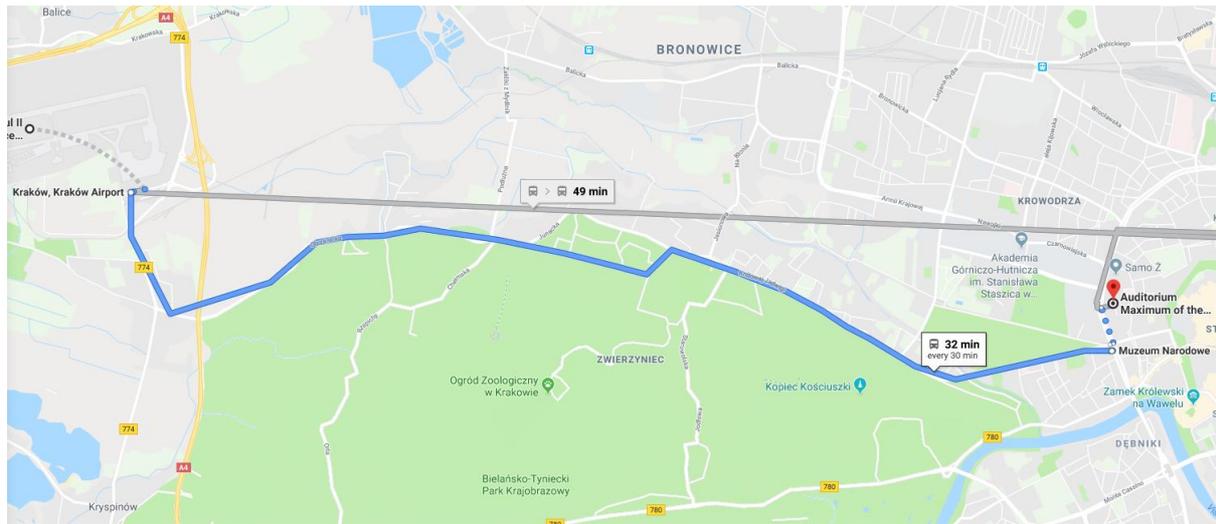

To find out more about the optional Saturday excursions, please visit <https://eisa-net.org/ewis/about-krakow/>. Available locations to visit are Auschwitz-Birkenau, Wieliczka Salt Mine, Kraków City or Zakopane. Pre-registration is required.

EWIS 2019: Directions

Arriving from the airport

If not using a taxi, the cheapest and most convenient route from the airport to Auditorium Maximum of Jagiellonian University is taking a bus. Line 252 goes from the Airport to the station 'Muzeum Narodowe' (National Museum) which is just approx. 500 metres away from the event venue.

The whole route takes approximately 35 minutes.

The alternative is walking. The Auditorium Maximum is about 2,5 km away from the station/ approximately 30 minutes of walking. The route goes around the historical walls of the city of Kraków, with the possibility to make a short detour through the historical center itself.

Getting to the EWIS Happy Hours site

The location of EWIS Happy Hours - Hala Główna – is only two blocks away from the Auditorium Maximum, approximately 550 metres / 7 minutes by walking.

Route to the Conveners' Dinner location

The location of Conveners' Dinner, the Collegium Maius of Jagiellonian University, is 800 metres / 10 minutes of walking from the Auditorium Maximum. It is located in the historical building of Jagiellonian University in the centre of Kraków.
